

PIAC Professional Legal Training Placement Volunteer Position Job Description

The Public Interest Advocacy Centre (PIAC) is an independent, non-profit law and policy organisation that works for a fair, just and democratic society, empowering citizens, consumers and communities by taking strategic action on public interest issues. PIAC conducts this work using a multi-disciplinary team approach, using legal, policy, communication and training strategies across a range of projects and developing partnerships with community organisations and other agencies.

The major projects currently being undertaken by PIAC with a strong legal component include the generalist strategic litigation practice and the Indigenous Justice Program.

PIAC's strategic litigation team conduct high impact strategic litigation that achieves positive outcomes for significant groups of disadvantaged people. We bring test cases that create important legal precedents that protect human rights and promote social justice for disadvantaged people.

The Volunteer Professional Legal Training Placement contributes to the provision of a successful, innovative, and responsive legal practice through assisting with PIAC's telephone information and advice service and with PIAC's litigation and associated policy and law reform, training and administrative work.
